

Mangifera indica

Common Name: Aam, Mango

Scientific Name: Mangifera indica

Family: Anacardiaceae

Mango is a species of flowering plant in the family Anacardiaceae. Mangoes are believed to have originated from the region between northwestern Myanmar, Bangladesh, and India.

Economic Importance: Wood is extensively used for low-cost furniture, floor, ceiling boards, window frames, heavy packing cases, match splints, brush backs, oar blades, agricultural implements etc. Also suitable for tea chest plywood. Hard charcoal of high calorific value is obtained from mango wood.