BRIEF INFORMATION ABOUT THE ACTIVITY

TOPIC/SUBJECT OF THE ACTIVITY	StrataZenith: A competition based on Game Theory
OBJECTIVES	The main objective was to inculcate and test skills like decision-making and critical thinking of participants in the form of a game theory-based competition.
METHODOLOGY	The event consisted of a number of intriguing mind-games based on day to day situations. Puzzles and Games like prisoner's dilemma and diner's dilemma were given to participants in order to test their decision-making, the games were divided into different rounds and participants winning in the games progressed to further rounds. After each game, one could observe the scores and play to their opponents' weaknesses to maximize profits and move to subsequent rounds.
INVITED SPEAKERS WITH AFFILIATION DETAILS (IF ANY)	NA
OUTCOMES	The event attracted a huge response from students not just from SVC but outside as well and thus can be termed a success. Participants were successfully able to develop insights as to why this field of mathematics has become so indispensable for analysing real world scenarios. The whole team worked as one which helped build organizational and collaboration skills, in addition to increasing the team's knowledge on game theory.

Event Report

Name of the Event: StrataZenith

Date: 11th November 2022

The Impact Project of the Commerce Association, SVC, conducted an event 'StrataZenith' on 11th November 2022 in Collaboration with Indian Game Theory Society DTU, the event aimed to test the wits, critical thinking and logical reasoning ability of the participants in addition to testing their real world problem solving abilities with Game Theory as it's fulcrum.

Event started at 1:00 PM. IGTS DTU presented a presentation on their society's history and basic details and rules of the event. The event originally started at 1:30 PM. There were 42 participants divided into 6 pools, each having 7 participants.

The 1st round consisted of events such as Diners and Unique Bid Auction wherein participants had to have 2nd highest dinner payment and highest unique bid respectively in their pools. Both games were based on critical reasoning and were very interactive as the participants even discussed on what basis they made their decisions after the games ended.

After this round, top 4 from each pool were selected and competed in game theory tic tac toe wherein you'd have to force your opponent to make 3 consecutive crosses. 6 people all in all went to the final round after this that had an interlinked game theory based round auction. Top 3 of the 6 were declared winners.

All in all the participants enjoyed the fast paced nature of the logic and critical thinking testing games. Event was wrapped up by 4:30 pm.
