The Economics Association, Sri Venkateswara College organized its second session of Alumni Inspire Series, 2021-22, intending to connect our students with dynamic alumni.

The session was held on 23rd October 2021 with four Economics Honours alumni from the batch of 2007, pursuing careers in diverse fields today.

The first speaker of the day, Mr. Ravi Sarangi delivered a detailed presentation related to his journey, experiences, and learnings in the field of finance. After graduating from Sri Venkateswara College, he pursued his MSc in Economics from Madras School of Economics and found his first job as a Data Analyst at HSBC. He had always been interested in finance, thus, enrolled himself for CFA, simultaneously working as a data analyst. Later, he worked as an Equity Researcher at JP Morgan, subsequently as an Asset Manager at IFMR, and finally founded Samasthiti Advisors in 2019. He concluded his presentation by briefing about his start-up and giving extremely valuable tips about making a career in finance.

Our second speaker was Ms. Tania Jacob. Looking back on her journey, even though she was unable to get into IIMs after her graduation, she was determined to enter the finance sector, and so, tried a work-study program in Mumbai. Keen to work in corporate financing, she did her MBA from ISB, followed by a job in corporate financing. In 2016, after receiving CFA charter, she took over a new job that accounted for using principles of Economics, valuation of finance, and making investment decisions for the company.

She noted that even though the road to her journey was rough, by making the best use of the opportunities and maximizing returns she has been able to obtain satisfactory results over the years. She also emphasized valuable soft skills passed down to her by her mentor - character, strategy, and judgment.

Our third speaker for the alumni series was Ms. Saurabh who has 13 years of experience in the field of Public Policy across different sectors. Currently, she works as a Deputy General Manager, Public Policy at Samsung electronics, India, before which, she was a part of regulatory services at PwC, India. She started her career in Public Policy by working with India's apex industry association FICCI was responsible for FMCG and e-commerce. Over the past few years, her focus has been on consumer tech policies as this industry is witnessing frequent regulatory changes.

She explained why policy-making interested her and shared three keys to excel in policymaking - a) to have strong connections, b) to have a strong understanding of current affairs, and c) to never miss out on integrity.

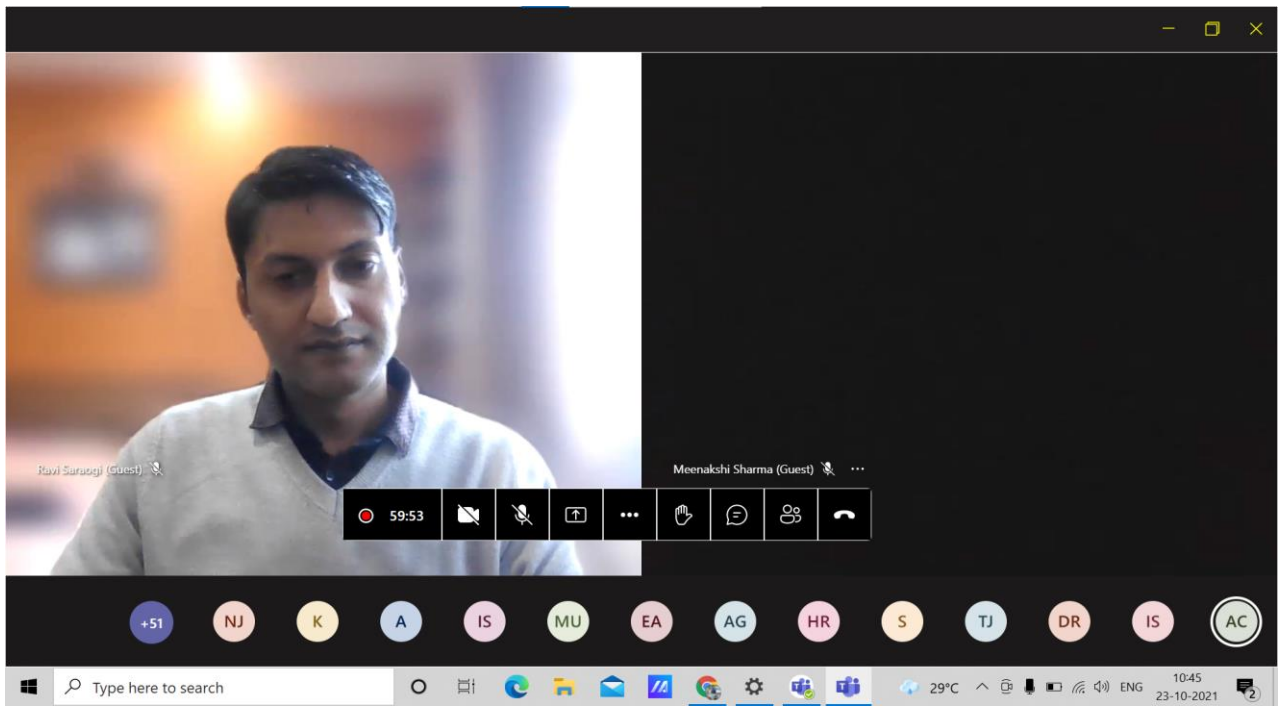

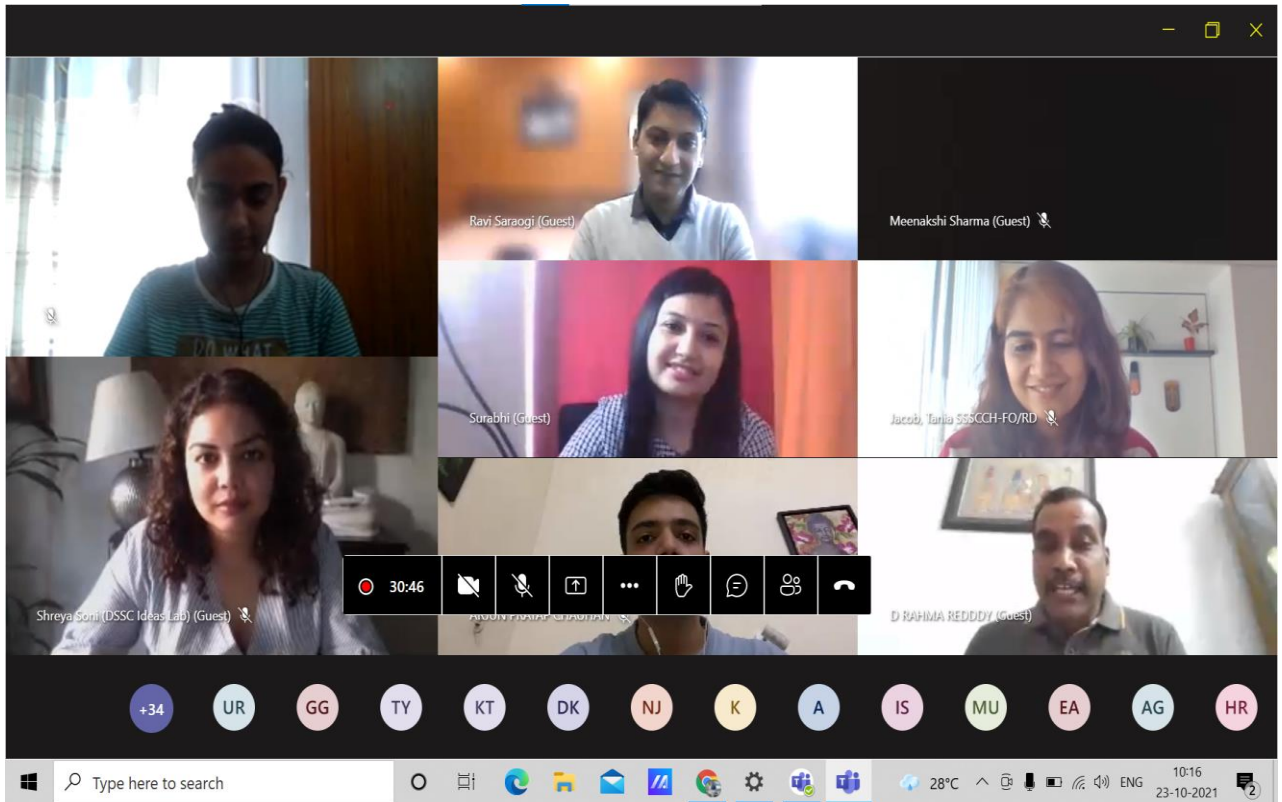

Ms. Shreya Soni was the last alumna for the session. After graduating from Sri Venkateswara College, she pursued her MSc in Economics and Finance at Warwick Business School, London. From working in EY as a management consultant to launching a social experiment – the Delhi Secret Supper Club – the country's only secret supper club, she fondly recounted her journey so far. She was also the Vice President of Amancaya and the Founding Director of Picture Wala - her little ventures early on in her career that set her up for becoming the founder and CEO of DSSC she is today.

Reminiscing about her college days, she described the vital role her days in the Dramatics Club played in shaping her up to be the dynamic personality that she is today and easing her into taking tough decisions as she ventured into entrepreneurship.

After all the guests had spoken about their respective journeys, the floor was opened to the students for QnA. Surbhi ma'am was asked regarding her take on professional courses. She stated that both professional and traditional courses keep a lot of opportunities open for us- it's we who have to decide on our career path. Shreya ma'am was asked about the difference between studying in India and studying abroad, to which she responded that she got to learn here about spending habits and behavioural patterns while studying abroad gave her international exposure.

The session concluded after our alumni and faculty reminisced about their fantastic days spent at Venky. A word of gratitude was offered by the Association, as it was an honour to host all the alumni back at their alma mater. It was an opportunity to learn incredibly from the life stories of four alumni who started their stories the same way but are performing exceptionally well in starkly different sectors today.
