EDUCATION

Dear Readers

The word 'Mosaic' acquires a whole new meaning when a bunch of amateurs are faced with the task of creating a magazine. Between wanting to go for a single broad theme and the desire for a totally fragmented postmodernist apocalypse, we have tried to arrange the pieces in a way that creates a beautifully unified whole- without being a bore.

We've been growing with every passing day, and so has technology. Keeping up to date with all the cool new stuff to make things engaging and relevant for you leads us on roads to undiscovered potential and opportunities. Making ourselves available online to engage the student community to express their artistic talents digitally has been one such attempt.

This issue is a monochromatic assemblage of diverse ideas and concepts articulated by some really imaginative and talented minds. The whole process, from conception to execution, with frequent tolling and brainstorming has been a humble learning experience. With these thoughts in mind, we lay bare this pretty thing, the product of our love and labour, and sincerely hope that it will open up newer opportunities for constructive thoughts and discussions.
