Intach Heritage Workshop

By:

Sri Venkateswara College, University of Delhi

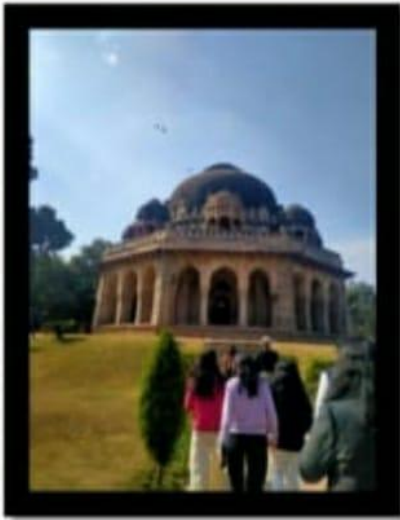

New Delhi, 20 January 2023. The Indian National Trust for Art and Cultural Heritage (INTACH), a charitable non-profit organisation which holds consultative status with United Nations Economic and Social Council organised a seminar and heritage walk programme where the students of the History Department of Sri Venkateswara College participated.

Delhi is famous for its chilly winters. Amidst this cold, INTACH's workshop came like a warm ray of hope for the students of SVC. It has been the ethos of Sri Venkateswara College to appreciate and protect the legacy of Indian culture and tradition. It is with this spirit our students began the session. At 9 am, the session commenced with a fabulously informative presentation on the history of Delhi by Ms Swapna Liddle. This presentation was followed by another by Mr Amit Kumar on the heritage conservation efforts of INTACH, which enthralled the students. Dr Randhawa ended the seminar with a presentation on vernacular heritage. At the end of the seminar, the students were absolutely mesmerised for they were presented with the nuances and intricacies of the discipline of history in a unique manner.

Next up was the heritage walk to the Lodhi Gardens where students had a first-hand experience of what it is like to analyse heritage-related architecture. Students were provided with information regarding the different burials and monuments there. It was expected from them that they replicate such walks for their own college students.

Apart from dealing with built heritage, the students got the opportunity to visit conservation labs where different articles such as textiles were being restored. This was truly a dive into the past, looking deep into the heritage of our great civilisation.

This was followed by the pairing of colleges that were to present the heritage activities that students could organise at their level, the help students required from INTACH and in turn how they can support INTACH.

Truly, INTACH's spirit of imparting education and of safeguarding heritage is to be appreciated. The seeds of heritage activism have been sowed in the minds and hearts of the students of Sri Venkateswara College.
