

Introduction of a new society in college

It is to announce the birth of a new society in the field of extra-curricular activities. Petrichor is to serve as the creative writing society of the college. It began initially as a creative writing club under the English department. It has organized several poetry and creative writing competitions including the ones at Nexus and numerous open-mic poetry sessions for students across all courses in the college. Thereby providing a platform for students to express themselves and voice their creativity.

For enquiries- Arijit Roy (President)-9968074565

