Venue: SVC Seminar Hall

Time: 12:30 P.M.

The Economics Association, SVC, organized a seminar on Risk Management with Mr. Subhashis Nath, CEO of the Global Risk Management Institute, an alumnus of Sri Venkateswara College as the keynote speaker. Haripriya Muralidhar, President of the Economics Association, set the ball rolling with a welcome speech, followed by Dr Aruna Rao, Acting principal of Sri Venkateswara College and TIC, presenting Mr Nath with a memento and expressing gratitude. Anjali Rao, Vice President of the Economics Association, shed further light on Sir's star-studded career. A pioneer of risk consulting and an active industry speaker across international forums, Mr. Nath was invited to the podium.

Mr Nath discussed his experiences in Venky, emphasizing the importance of extra-curricular activities for holistic development. Talking about his core competency i.e., risk management, he shed light on the omnipresence of risk. Being a pioneer of risk management at Axis Bank, the importance of a 'Model Risk Code' was highlighted multiple times in his speech. He shared practical examples, including the case of Nokia, highlighting the need to embrace change and manage uncertainties. Mr Nath discussed GRMI, addressing startup failures, and outlined the risks he faced in establishing the institute. The risks included creating a new category (risk management), external influences, high costs, and the absence of prior standards. Mr Nath confidently positioned GRMI as 'the next Harvard of risk management.'

The discourse concluded with a message urging attendees to explore diverse career opportunities beyond traditional paths. A Q&A session followed, providing students with the opportunity to clarify their queries. Ms Sheebani, Faculty Advisor, delivered a vote of thanks, followed by Mr Brahma Reddy, expressing gratitude to Mr Nath for sharing valuable insights on risk management. The successful and enriching event concluded on an inspiring note.
