Report

The Department of Sociology at SVC hosts an annual lecture every year to honour distinguished scholars and activists for their impactful contributions. This year on 23 February 2024, we are honoured to host Dr. Pami Dua, Senior Professor of Economics and Former Director of Delhi School of Economics, as our esteemed guest.

Prof. Dua's illustrious career includes significant contributions to the field of economics, notably serving as a member of the first Monetary Policy Committee of the Reserve Bank of India. She has also held prestigious positions such as the President of the Indian Econometric Society and Editor of the Indian Economic Review. With her extensive expertise in economics and notable achievements, Prof. Dua's lecture on Financial Inclusion (Perspectives and Initiatives) provided insightful perspectives on addressing socio-economic disparities and fostering inclusive growth.

The event commenced with a welcome speech by Rohitkrishna A, President of Sociology Hons, followed by a keynote address by Principal Prof. KC Singh, the chief patron of the event. Dr. Padma Priyadarshini, the Teacher-in-Charge, introduced the speaker, and Prof. Pami Dua was felicitated by the Principal and Dr. Satheesh Perumalla from the faculty.

Prof. Dua provided a detailed understanding of the five pillars of financial inclusion: accessibility, affordability, adequacy, awareness, and digital infrastructure. The participants explored the examples of financial services aimed at promoting financial inclusion, such as no-frills banking accounts, money transfer facilities, micro-insurance, and micro-pension plans. The speaker emphasized the importance of accessibility to financial services for marginalized sections of society. She also discussed role of regulations and cyber protection in ensuring the security of digital financial transactions.

The outlined objectives included describing India's digital infrastructure components, showcasing their impact on financial inclusion, and emphasizing tools like Aadhaar and UPI. Key insights revealed gender gaps in banking access, the role of education, and the positive impact of financial inclusion on overall well-being. Prof. Dua stressed the need for comprehensive education campaigns, community workshops, partnerships, digital tools, and government initiatives to improve financial literacy and empower individuals socially and economically. She also talked about the Post-Election Policies for Women's Financial Inclusion, which suggested promoting women entrepreneurship, implementing gender-sensitive labour policies, skill development programs, financial inclusion initiatives, and public awareness campaigns to enhance women's participation in the workforce.

To address concerns about digital infrastructure leading to exclusivity, the Speaker recommended ensuring accessibility, user-friendly interfaces, financial education, regulatory oversight, and maintaining traditional banking channels alongside digital ones. The event outcomes encompassed an enhanced understanding of financial inclusion, insights into barriers hindering inclusion, and policy recommendations for women's economic empowerment.

Comparative insights between Singapore and India's financial inclusion efforts highlighted regulatory frameworks and government-led programs. The critical role of Self-Help Groups (SHGs) in empowering women and marginalized communities was acknowledged.

Strategies to address challenges related to asymmetric information and the impact of demonetization on financial inclusion efforts were discussed. The event concluded with a Question-Answer session coordinated by Mr. Rahul Jha from the faculty, where the participants exchanged their ideas, shared their insights, and developed an understanding of the actionable recommendations for creating a more inclusive and equitable financial system.

Pratibha Kumari, Vice President, delivered the vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to all participants for their contributions to the enriching discourse on financial inclusion.
