REPORT

Introduction: On 10th October 2023, a group of 37 Semester 1 students of VAC: Ethics and Culture course, along with their course instructor embarked on an enriching educational trip to the National Museum in Delhi. The museum boasts three floors and showcases artifacts spanning from the Indus Valley Civilization to the British Era, providing a comprehensive journey through India's rich cultural history

Experience Overview: The visit commenced on the top floor, where we explored the tribal art section, immersing ourselves in the intricate jewelry, headwear, and clothing that depicted a lifestyle distinct from our own. Despite some sections being closed for maintenance, such as the galleries of armor, we marveled at the craftsmanship displayed in the wood carving artifacts, which highlighted the astonishing skills of artisans from various time periods, and gallery of musical instruments.

Cultural Significance: Notably, a recurring theme observed throughout the exhibits was the reverence given to musicians. Art pieces showcased depictions of individuals playing musical instruments and dancers, emphasizing the cultural significance of these art forms across Indian history

Technological Experience: The visit culminated in a captivating Virtual Reality tour of the Ajanta caves, one of the museum's newest additions. This immersive experience transported us to a historical marvel, enhancing our understanding of India's artistic heritage.

Insights and Reflections: The expedition deepened our appreciation for the diversity of Indian culture, revealing how it evolved and manifested in diverse art forms across different time periods.

Conclusion: The trip concluded with shared laughter and camaraderie, fostering lasting memories. A competitive game of Chausar added a fun-filled ending to our educational journey.
