The session featured Prof. Manoj Pant, Visiting Professor at Shiv Nadar University and former Vice Chancellor of the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade. With extensive experience in public policy and economic governance, Prof. Pant delivered an insightful lecture on the intersection of economic policy, governance, and development in a rapidly transforming economy.

During the seminar, Prof. Pant highlighted the evolving role of the state in managing economic growth and addressing contemporary policy challenges. He discussed the importance of sound macroeconomic management and fiscal policy in sustaining long-term economic stability. Emphasis was placed on the role of infrastructure financing in accelerating development and improving productivity across sectors. Drawing from his experience in public administration, he also explained how institutional reforms and effective governance frameworks are essential for implementing economic policies successfully.

The speaker further elaborated on the relationship between markets and government intervention, stressing the need for balanced policy approaches that encourage growth while ensuring inclusivity and social welfare. He also shared insights on India’s economic transformation, the challenges of globalization, and the opportunities emerging for developing economies. The session provided students with a deeper understanding of how economic theories translate into real-world policymaking and governance.

SAMRAJYA-X

Day 2 | A Whisper, Then a War

Trading Session 2 | The Whisper Before the Bell

"The man who knows what others do not is not lucky. He is patient, and willing to pay for patience."

Before the second session opened, a message arrived. Not by royal courier. By a plain servant, carrying a parchment sealed in deep blue wax bearing only the letter V. Vikram Adityaraj, Senior Minister and brother of the Maharani, was offering classified intelligence for a price paid before the bell. Ten pieces of information drawn from sealed war council sessions, private Rajkosha directives, and closed ministerial correspondence.

The choice was not simply about information. Every Svarna Mudra spent on intelligence was capital removed from the trading account. Thirty public bulletins ran alongside, and teams that tracked signals carefully across industries found that the public bulletin and the insider intelligence were not as far apart as they first appeared. By close, Khanij Parishad had moved on the back of a copper discovery that the public record had only partially revealed. The market felt, cautiously, like it understood itself.

It did not yet know what was coming.

Trading Session 3 | The Invasion

"It is not the blow that breaks the merchant. It is the merchant who did not see it coming."

Vikram had been arrested for treason. The news crossed the western frontier into Suvarnapura before the session opened. Maharaj Adityaraj, the Maharani's father, had spent years placing stones carefully inside Samrajya's court. Now his son was in a tower. The empire's southern frontier had been quietly emptied of garrison battalions. Its most senior general had resigned without a replacement. The northern hill clans had sealed the mountain passes. Suvarnapura crossed the border at two points before dawn.

The third session opened with that reality already priced into the air. Ten more bulletins arrived in quick succession alongside the session's full sequence, documenting the cascade across every industry. Trade corridors shut. The port was suspended. Credit froze as the Rajkosha redirected reserves to defence. Vanijya Mandal and Kosha Adhikar fell sharply. But war does not destroy uniformly. The health sector, armed with an unlimited treasury mandate, became a critical state apparatus overnight. Vidya Sabha was appointed central war coordinator by royal decree. The copper deposits, confirmed outside the conflict zone, were designated a Strategic War Resource with guaranteed state purchase. Raksha Parishad, freed from the procurement freeze, found a different kind of energy.

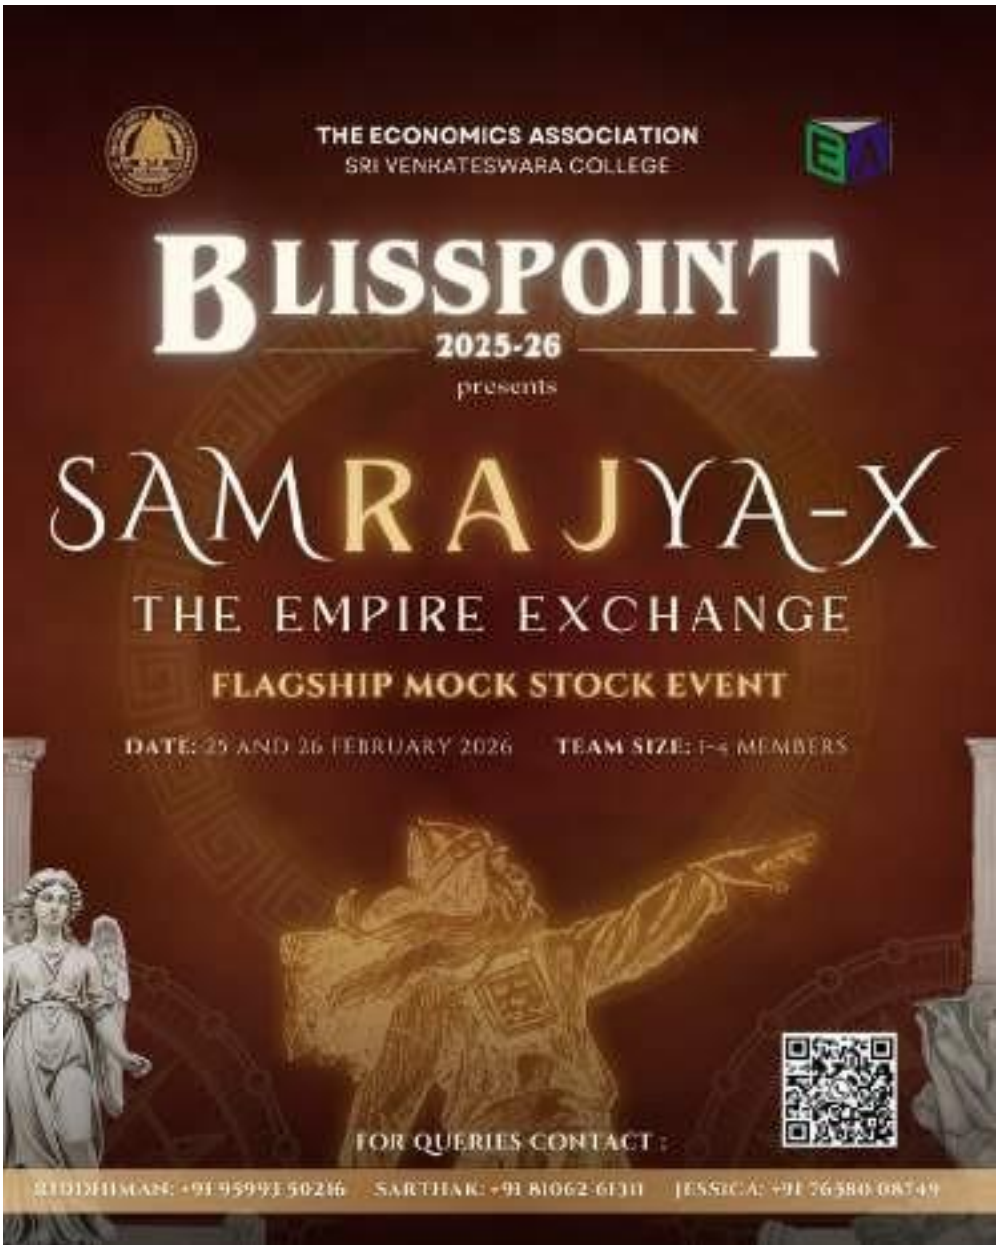

The final standings reflected three sessions of accumulated reasoning. The teams that survived the crash were not those who avoided risk. They were those who understood the difference between risk that destroys and risk that redirects.

Final Results

1st Place Farzi
2nd Place DK Bose DK
3rd Place TeamMates

All twelve teams brought the analytical engagement and competitive energy that made every price update genuinely unpredictable. The simulation was not decided by a single bulletin or a single trade. It was decided across eighty bulletins, three sessions, and two days of reasoning under pressure.

SamrajyaX set out to make economic theory feel like consequence. It did.

THE LEDGER

Hosted by Sri Venkateswara College on 26th February 2026, The Ledger was a multi-round mystery and strategy-based event designed to test participants' analytical thinking, problem-solving ability, and teamwork. There were 135 registrations for the event. The event was organised under the leadership of Event Heads – Nandika Sharma, Azeem Asaad, and Aarushi Singhal, along with the support of the organising team. The event began at 11:45 AM and concluded at 16 : 00.

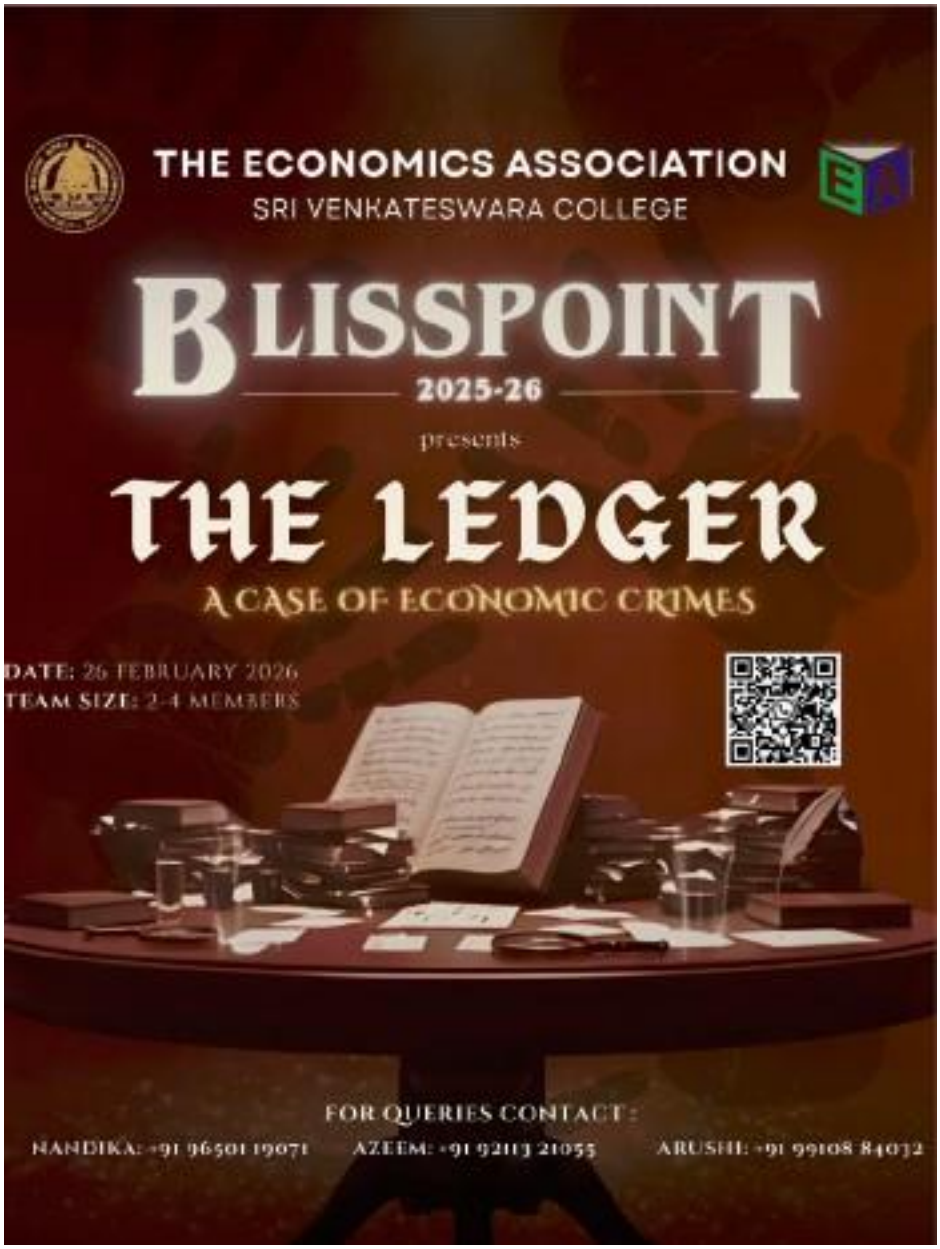

The competition started with an online preliminary round on Unstop, titled "First Autopsy." The round received 135 registrations, where participants attempted a time-bound quiz testing logical reasoning and analytical skills. Based on performance, the top 10 teams qualified for the on-campus rounds.

The second round, "Interrogation Deck," was an interactive card-based strategy game played by nine teams, requiring participants to analyse situations and strategically eliminate possibilities.

The third round was a Treasure Hunt, where five teams navigated through clues hidden across different locations, testing observation skills and teamwork under time pressure. The same teams then progressed to the fourth round, "Evidence Report," where they analysed the collected clues to solve a case-study based investigation.

The final round, "Final Verdict," featured three teams in an escape-room style murder mystery challenge where they decoded clues, analysed suspect files, and identified the culprit.

The competition concluded with Team SHERLOCK (Winner), Team JOOTE LO PAISE DO (Runner-Up), and Team TRI TO WIN (Second Runner-Up).

CAPITAL CRUCIBLE

The Economics Association of Sri Venkateswara College proudly hosted the Capital Crucible Challenge, a macroeconomic strategy competition that drew remarkable participation and intellectual engagement from across Delhi University and beyond. There were 87 registrations for the event. The event unfolded across two distinctive rounds, testing participants on both quantitative decision-making and strategic policy thinking.

Round 1, conducted online via Unstop, invited participants to step into the shoes of India's policymakers in a high-stakes resource allocation exercise. Teams were tasked with optimally distributing a fixed national budget across six critical spending areas: from Defence and Cyber-Sovereignty to Public Health and Sovereign Reserves. All while navigating probabilistic geopolitical shocks such as currency speculation, cyber terrorism, and territorial aggression. The round attracted an impressive 87 registrations, reflecting widespread enthusiasm for the challenge.

The top seven teams then advanced to Round 2, held on campus, which presented a richly layered geopolitical case study centred on a nation caught between two hostile powers and forced to balance national security, economic stability, and political survival. Teams were evaluated on the depth, coherence, and feasibility of their proposed multi-pronged national strategies.

The event was adjudicated by Mayukh Banerjee, Graduate Teaching Assistant at the Delhi School of Economics, and Adit Kumar, a distinguished Economics Honours student and seasoned case competition finalist with over 15 wins. After rigorous deliberation, Jesus and Mary College claimed 1st position, Faculty of Law, Delhi University secured 2nd , and Motilal Nehru Evening College finished 3rd.

EQUILIBRIUM

On the second day of Blisspoint 2026 at Sri Venkateswara College, the Economics Association successfully hosted Equilibrium - The Sovereign Trade Assembly , a high-stakes economic simulation that pushed participants to the brink of diplomatic strategy with agenda of "Addressing the Impact of Tariffs on Global Trade and Economic Stability". There were 56 registrations for the event.

Led by event heads Ridhima Jain and Divyansh, the committee was presided over by Chairperson Aryan Singla and Vice Chairperson Ridhima Jain, with administrative support from OC and equity members Piyush and Riya Patel. An initial elimination round on Unstop where candidates were narrowed down to eight representative countries based on their position papers (Germany, Russia, USA , Brazil, India, Japan , France, UK)

The on-campus session kicked off with an address from the Executive Board and OC, moving swiftly into a rigorous Q&A session where delegates defended their country’s stance. The intensity peaked during the unmoderated caucus as teams navigated a sudden crisis, engaging in rapid-fire lobbying and alliance-building to draft their resolution papers. A unique layer of complexity was added by the International Press (IP) factor, where participants also acted as journalists and caricaturists to influence the committee's narrative.

The event ran from 12:00 to 4:45 pm . After a comprehensive evaluation across all rounds and IP contributions, the home teams swept the podium, with Brazil (SVC) securing 1st place, followed by Japan (SVC) in 2nd, and India (SVC) taking 3rd.
