REPORT

The session on career opportunities was marked by insightful discussions and valuable takeaways. The event commenced with a warm welcome by Anish Bhagawati, followed by Dr. Niharika Jaiswal, who introduced the esteemed speaker, Mr. Aditya Shrey, currently serving as a Business Consultant at EY India LLP. Aditya holds a Master's degree in Public Policy from the National Law School of India University and a Bachelor's degree in Sociology from Sri Venkateswara College, Delhi University, from the batch of 2021. Through his strong academic background and work experience, Mr. Aditya enlightened the students on building their perspectives on career planning, higher education, and evolving opportunities in the respective fields.

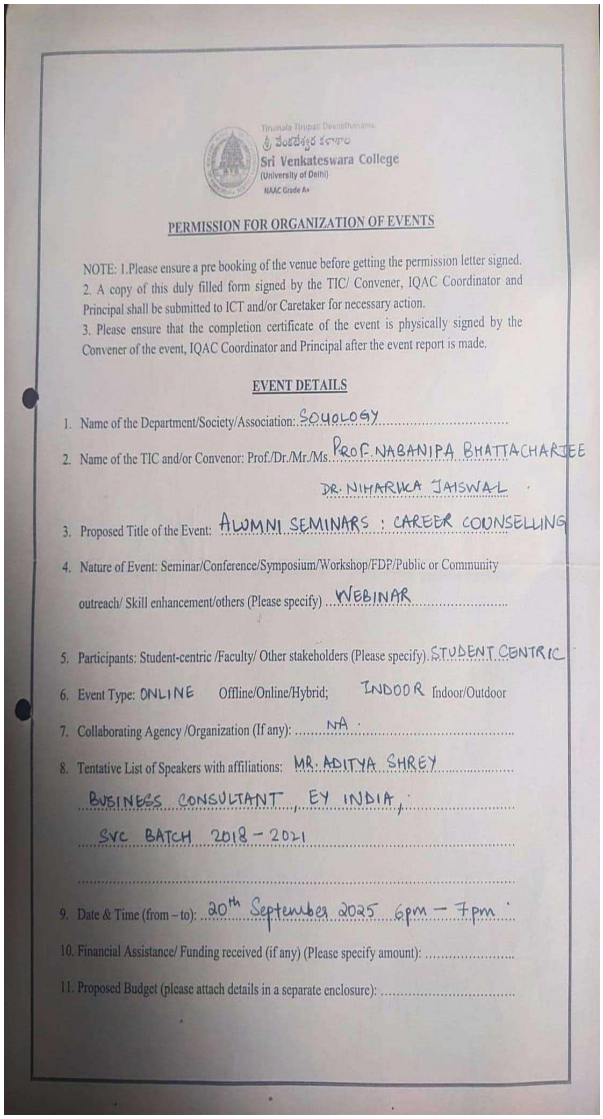

Mr. Aditya began the seminar with three core pillars of student life. First, he discussed the importance of paying attention in class. He stressed that actively listening to the teacher is one of the most important tasks as a student. Actively participating in classes enhances different skills, builds theoretical knowledge, and sharpens the mind. He then moved to the next point—working smart. In today's world, success does not only depend on working hard, but also on working smart and efficiently, as seen from global standpoints. He summed it all up in a blueprint which involved- minding curriculum, mastering the art of interview, seeking advices from professors, building our resume.

The seminar then moved towards the public and government sectors and business consulting. Mr. Aditya shared valuable information about business consulting and the role it plays in the formulation of new schemes. He emphasized how having a degree in Sociology gave him an extra edge in preparing reports and analyzing ground realities, ensuring that any scheme formulated would have the best impact on society. To illustrate this, Mr. Aditya cited the government's "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao" scheme as an example of the role of a sociologist.

The discussion then shifted to the toolkit required in today's world. Mr. Aditya highlighted the importance of developing new skills and exploring the world to broaden one's perspective. First come soft skills, or foundational skills, that every student should acquire to build a strong portfolio. This includes proficiency in Microsoft tools such as Word, Excel, and PowerPoint—the first steps in professional growth. Next comes data interpretation, which involves working with datasets, analyzing numbers, and drawing meaningful insights. Finally, he stressed the importance of familiarity—going beyond basic knowledge to actively work with these tools and engage in projects that sharpen skills.

The session concluded with an engaging Q&A segment, where participants inquired about the use of AI in the modern world and its practical applications. Hands-on experience was also highlighted in the discussion. Mr. Aditya's responses shed light on the path to a successful career for students, and then the seminar witnessed a warm closing speech (vote of thanks) by Aryan. The session truly enlightened the participants and left them motivated.
