EVENT REPORT

Name of the Event: Commerce Orientation Programme
Date: 29th July, 2026

The Commerce Orientation Programme marked the commencement of the academic session for the incoming batch of students. The programme brought together faculty members and freshers in a formal setting, where students were introduced to the Department of Commerce and its academic environment. The session served as an opportunity to familiarise students with the department and begin their academic journey on a positive note.

The purpose of the Commerce Department Orientation Programme was to acquaint students with the Department of Commerce and provide an overview of its academic framework. Faculty members shared important information regarding the curriculum, departmental initiatives, and opportunities available to students throughout their course of study. The programme offered students greater clarity about the department and its functioning while encouraging them to actively engage in academic life.

The Commerce Orientation Programme unfolded through a series of sessions where faculty members interacted directly with the newly admitted students. The discussions addressed various academic aspects and encouraged students to raise their queries, creating opportunities for meaningful dialogue. The programme fostered an atmosphere of openness and participation, making the experience both informative and welcoming for the freshers.

In essence, the Commerce Department Orientation Programme served as a meaningful introduction to the Department of Commerce and its academic culture. The programme laid a strong foundation for student engagement by strengthening the connection between faculty members and freshers. It concluded on a positive note, leaving students better informed and prepared for the academic journey ahead.
